PRESS RELEASE

November 3, 1965

AKBAR

OVER 5000 ATTEND DR. ABDUL HAQQ'S MEETINGS
SPIRITUAL MEETINGS AT RANCHI.

RANCHI (Bihar):

Over 5000 persons from every walk of life gathered on Friday last (Nov 5) evening at the St. Paul's Cathedral ground, Ranchi to welcome Dr. Akbar Abdul Haqq, an eminent scholar and evangelist from Chandigarh. He is here in connection with the Evangelistic Campaign jointly sponsored by the two main Protestant Churches of Chotanagpur viz., the Gossner Evangelical Lutheran Church and the Chotanagpur Diocese of the Church of India.

Dr. Akbar Abdul Haqq is scheduled to speak every evening at the St Paul's Cathedra ground till 21 st November on spiritual and moral subjects with which humanity is confronted in the present modern age. He is also programmed to address the student and business community of the city.

Addressing the faculty and students of the Ranchi University Colleges on Sunday afternoon in the University College premises, he called upon his audience to work for spiritual and moral values and to prepare themselves for the wholesome development of their lives. Speaking elaborately of the human achievements in the fields of science and technology, he stated, that mankind has overcome old superstitions and have shown new truths hitherto unknown to the human race. But it is a paradox, he said, that scientific achievements have also acquired new superstitions. One of the superstitions they have acquired is that there is no reality or truth beyond the scientific tests. He quoted some eminent scientists of the world to show that there are actually truths and realities which exist and cannot be subjected to test-tubes. The modern man involved in his superstition wants to test the existence of God for instance, which indicates his lamentable poverty in the world of spiritual and moral values.

Explaining further, he said, that beyond the physical phenomenon there is a phenomenon in which God lives and that there is a relationship between God and man. Psychologists have proved that in human brain there is a 'silent area' through which God speaks to man.

Dr. Haqq appealed to his audience to develop a true relationship with God, the Ultimate reality. He said that education according to Christianity is not complete unless man establishes this relationship with God. Christianity aims at abundant living wherein God becomes the master of the lives of mankind. He therefore held the view that scientific and technological advancement is incomplete unless spiritual advancement is made side by side.

Dr. Haqq is a member of the Billy Graham Team, who has just visited Beirut and Teheran where he drew large gatherings in his meetings. He has been visiting Ranchi at the invitation of the local Protestant Churches.

Politicians Are Disinterested In Sarvodya

And Flatter The Acharya To Deceive Him
THEY HOVER ONLY WHERE POWER OR MONEY IS!

Many people in this city did not know that Acharya Vinoba Bhave cannot hear at all. Nor does he use any mechanical aid. To converse with him one has to put his question or talk in writing. He reads it and replies. Supplementary questions and answers proceed in the same manner.

The Acharya is spending his life to lift up the village folk. Strictly speaking, Sarvodya has no other object. Nor can it be gainsaid that it is the best long-range patriotism. The Congressmen, however, appear to be disinterested in Sarvodya. At least in Ranchi no Congressmen have ever been in earnest about it. Sarvodya brings no dividends to them. Nor does it put them in lime light. They assembled at Ranchi but to enjoy the wise cracks of the Acharya. They did not intend to follow him. In fact, they pooh-pooh at his pains.

The so called Congress Muslims are particularly indifferent the Acharya. They only flatter to deceive.

On the 30th September, Mridula Sarabhai invited the President of the Jamiat-e-Ulema and the Congress and the Nationalist Muslims to meet her. Maulana Jamali, President of the Jamiat-e-Ulema and Mr. Sayeed of the Congress and others besides Mr. M. Siddique and styling themselves as Nationalist Muslims met her at Ashiana in the forenoon of the 30th September. She exhorted them to take part in Sarvodya and told them clearly that unless they do so, they wouldn't come up to the mark. Finding them willing to meet the Sage, she hastened to him and fixed up an interview for them with the Acharya at 4 O'clock in the afternoon. Maulana Sufi Jamali and others promised to wait upon him. But the Acharya freed himself for them in vain. None of them turned up.

By the way, Shri Ram Nandan Singh Editor of Gram Dan, was present at Ashiana with much useful talking on the obligations of the Eight Crore Muslims in India. His observations were highly appreciated.

Mr. K. B. Sahay Talks To The Public

Yet, another impetus was given to the public awakening at Ranchi on Thursday last. In fact Mr. K. B. Sahay sparked up the fighting spirit in them. He received two lacs and sixty thousand rupees from the district for the war effort and asked the people to grudge nothing in this hour of ordeal for the country. Mr. Sahay depicted the two Fronts before the country and defined the friends of the enemy. High up in this list were the dealers who charged rupees fifty five to sixty for one maund of rice. Better counsel, was however prevailing with them. The Muslims, he observed, could not be trifled with. They were crores and all of them had to rise to heights for their motherland.

The existing steelworks by way of further expansions, as well as the Bokaro steel-works, were expected to yield between themselves, a total production capacity of about 15 million tons per annum. For the balance, it was proposed to set up a new steelworks of about 1.5 million tonnes. However, the entire steel development programme during the Fourth Plan was at present under review. —PIB

Educational Concessions To Children Of Defence Service Personnel Recommended

The Government of India have requested to the State Governments and Union Territories to extend a number of educational concessions to the children of the defence service personnel. It has been proposed that free education should be provided to all the children of combatant J.C.O.s and other ranks in the army and equivalent cadres in the air force and navy and the children of those killed or disabled in action on the front. Delay in the payment of school/college fees by children of defence service personnel, other than above, may also be condoned as a special case. The State Governments and the Chairman Indian Public Schools Conference have been requested to give preference to children of defence service personnel, who are placed on action duty, for admission to residential and public schools. The State Governments have been further requested to remove any restriction or condition imposed by them as regards domicile or nativity in the matter of grant of concessions to these children.

Cooperatives To Play Vital Role In National Emergency

The Union Minister for Community Development and Cooperation, Shri S. K. Dey, has called upon cooperators all over the country to act together to reinforce the economic bastion for the defence of our democracy. In a message to State Ministers of Cooperation, he said that the cooperative institutions throughout the country should be geared up to meet the national emergency. These institutions can not only provide an institutional support to the work of the village volunteer force but also substantially assist in increasing agricultural production. Shri Dey's message adds: "This hour of gathering crisis offers a historic opportunity. People have shown already that they can rise to a man. I am sure I can count on you for the initial thrust which can spur cooperators all over the State to act together to reinforce the economic bastion for the defence of our nascent democracy."

Utilisation Of LIC Funds For Housing Schemes

Excess Of Annual Allocations To Be Sanctioned

The State Governments have been allowed to sanction housing projects substantially in excess of their annual allocations, so as to enable them to utilise the funds fully. This decision is a sequel to the representation made to the Government of India that owing to the time-lag between the sanctioning and completion of housing projects, the State Governments find it difficult to spend the entire amount of Life Insurance Corporation funds advanced to them during the same year. The proposal has been considered in consultation with the Life Insurance Corporation of India. It has now been decided that, with effect from 1965-66, the State Governments may be allowed to sanction, every year, housing projects to the extent of 25% in excess of the allocations for that year, subject to the condition that the actual expenditure is limited to the amount of loan advanced by the Life Insurance Corporation in the particular year. —PIB

Pakistan Understands The Language Of Force Only

The only language that Pakistan understands is the language of force. This is one of the lessons that have come out of the present conflict between India and Pakistan. This was remarked by Shri C.R. Pattabhi Raman, Union Deputy Minister for Information and Broadcasting, while addressing the employees of AIR and other media units of Mass Communication here today. The Deputy Minister also paid a glittering tribute to our Armed Forces. He said, "The daring exploits of our armed forces have become a part of history. Sophisticated Patton Tanks have not only been halted and destroyed but in many cases captured intact and many Sabre jets have been downed. ### Hostel Facilities Provided In Central Schools At Regimental Centres

The Government of India has requested in a letter to all the Central Schools located at regimental centres to provide hostel accommodation for the children of defence personnel who move from the headquarters to places which do not have residential facilities and central schools during the current emergency. In the event of the requisite building accommodation is not available from the present resources of the school, the Government of India is prepared to consider suitable proposals from the school authorities for rented accommodation. The question of granting hostel subsidy to the children of the Central Government servants drawing pay less than Rs. 350.00 is also being considered by the Government, says the letter. —PIB

Much Of India's Muchness Going Un-Harnessed

Too often and too much we have been harkening to the British and American Press. The leanings of either press are unmistakable. Barring a sensible exception here or there, they have been concocting arguments against India. To expect a fair deal or lead from them is to expect them to reverse History. We can, never be on shaky ground, if we turn a deaf ear to the croakings of the Press in question. Does the U. S. S. R. worry whether foreign Press speaks for or against it? Does the U. S. A. pause to mark or mind the effusions of the Foreign Press? Both the countries are fulfilling their destinies irrespective of the "war of wits" in the Press outside. Let us practise the same greatness.

Need we, in the next place, bank upon foreign aid either in food or in arms. India it is widely admitted, can feed the world population single handed, if it work after they have had "their hands uplifted to the Almighty."

Whose Goebbel It Is—The Blitz Of Bombay?

The Blitz of Bombay imagines that the public in India is its captive audience. If the paper is happy in this error, it would be cruelty on our part to lift it out of it. But the current thinking and writing of the Blitz are hardly a compliment to the Paper. The Defence Minister and the Foreign Minister were cruelly caricatured in its columns the other day. The Secretaries, it was insinuated, were nose-leading and frog-marching the Ministers. Nothing could be more offensive to truth and tastes. They are, in all conscience, doing marvellously well. If the Blitz seeks to damp their spirit, it plays the Goebbel for Pakistan and China. Going through the columns of this paper, one wonders, in fact whether one is listening to the B.B.C. or Pindi or Peking. The propaganda flow of words in its columns are bouquets for some Ministers and brickbats for others.

The Much Maligned

ponents may not agree with Mr. Qayyum Ansari as to his views of the attitude of the aristocratic and enlightened Muslims in the country. Yet, he is straightforward and upright person. He fears God and therefore he can say or do nothing which he feels to be wrong.

Nor is Mr. Amanat Ali a free booter in public life. He has intellect and conscience and character no less keen and alive and sterling than his critics. I wish you had heard him addressing the Nationalist Muslims at the Welfare Centre Hall the other day. He stood up for the rights of the minority community and vindicated their devotion to the Motherland as vigorously as the Sentinel has been doing. None can deny, in the next place, that he is helping the lame dog over the stile as of often as he can.

Maulana Nizam too does not deserve the ridicule heaped upon him. He is vastly learned in the Scripture of Islam and devoted to God. Have not the Muslims of the area where the office of the Sentinel lies constituted him their Imam—their leader in prayers? If he has now and then contacts with persons in authority, he does so in the interest of the Muslims themselves.

Dr. Quddus cannot I assert be disparaged for his activities. He is not a politician but a physician and a successful physician. Hundreds of patients swear by Press? Both the countries are fulfilling their destinies irrespective of the "war of wits" in the Press outside. Let us practise the same greatness.

Need we, in the next place, bank upon foreign aid either in food or in arms. India it is widely admitted, can feed the world population single handed, if it tries to do so. She can, arm herself too with the deadliest missiles of war. Her factories and her arsenals are second to none, atleast in Asia. Let us, therefore, tell the Foreign Powers to keep their aid to themselves. We would get going splendidly. All that we need to do is to deepen the determination and to prosecute the drive untiringly.

The people of India are undeniably war conscious today. All the world finds them acting as one man. The addicts to profiteering and corruption are, of course, still on the prowl at some places. If they do not turn a new leaf under the present crisis they can be obliged to do so. The authorities have but to make up their mind in this respect.

Above all, we must reckon with the Lord above who is ruling or over-ruling the universe. To invoke His grace ought to be the daily routine of individuals and communities all over the country. Mr. Shastri and Mr. Chavan ought to begin the day's now or words in its columns are bouquets for some Ministers and brickbats for others.

The "Shraddha" ceremony of the late lamented Rai Bahadur S.N. Ganguli took place at his Ranchi residence on Sunday, the 3rd of October, which was also the auspicious "Mahashtrami" day. The solemn function commenced at 9.30 a.m. with "Kirran" performed by the famed "Moy-nadal" Group of Calcutta. The religious ceremony was performed according to Vedic rites by the Rai Bahadur's only son, Shri Hemen Ganguly, assisted by his only grandson Sriman Vaskar.

On Monday, the 4th of October the poor of the city were fed. About 1400 men, women and children turned up. Food was also sent to the inmates of the Blind School, the Deaf & Dumb School, the orphanage etc. A similar service to the poor was also held at Puri (Orissa) in front of the Temple of Shri Jagannath on the 3rd, because the Rai Bahadur used to spend about four months every year at Puri ever since his mild heart attack some seven years ago.

From The Air Front :—

These, Our Intrepid Airmen

FROM A FORWARD AIRBASE, Friday — The first business of an air force is to fly. And if Pakistan radio were to be believed the Indian Air Force should have been incapable of handling any air traffic or have many aircraft left to fly over the past week, before the cease-fire became operative on Thursday morning, writes a military observer from a forward airbase.

Yet it was evident from the screaming jet aircraft which greeted one, as one approached the perimeter of the airfield, that Pakistan's claims were as amusing as fanciful.

Our fighter aircraft took off at dawn to patrol our skies and assisted our Army, and they did not rest till sun down. This is not to say that Pakistan Air Force has not attempted to destroy our installations and damage the aircraft stationed here. There is evidence of a marauder's visits as also there is evidence of his inaccuracy in hitting the intended targets.

The enemy was left with no option but to approach this air field stealthily at night; an over-confident first having come to grief, attempt by six Sabres for for fear of attack, then one look at the activity on the base is sufficient to wash it away from one's eye for ever. Nothing could be more distant from the popular imagination than the calm with which our pilots executed their gallant and arduous duties, or the ceaseless efficiency with which our engineers and other ground officers and men kept the machines in flying worthy condition. The few planes that sustained damage in action were quickly repaired, made serviceable and back to meet the enemy fighters and bombers. This, in itself, must be a considerable morale breaker to the Pakistan Air Force which was under the impression in self-praise that it had damaged our aircraft before they could take off from the ground.

The senior officers at this forward airbase are fine leaders and, thus, thoughtful individuals. Flying is their profession and they have mastered it. Fighting is their duty and they have studied ed its implications and, after an encounter or two, could devise tactics against the deadly Sidewinder air-to-air missiles which the PAF's F-104s and F-86s carry as standard equipment. It speaks well of the ingenuity and acumen of our fighter pilots that they were able to outmanoeuvre this heatseeking, lethal missile which, literally, chases the target aircraft and which travels well near three times the speed of sound while their own aircraft travel only at speeds approaching MACH 1. They discussed these tactics with openness and it was encouraging to find just how quickly they had learnt from experience and translated their experience into action.

The Gnat pilots have a swagger of their own. They talk about the excellent job which the Bangalore factory has made of designing and modifying the original fighter. The Gnat was not a combat proven aircraft till this conflict. It must now surely rate as one of the best interceptors in its class anywhere. It took the Indian pilots to prove this to evidence of a marauder's visit as also there is evidence of his inaccuracy in hitting the intended targets.

The enemy was left with no option but to approach this airfield stealthily at night; an overconfident first having come to grief, attempt by six Sabres for four of them were shot down by our Hunters, or by Ack-Ack. Two of them panicked and, in the confusion that ensued, collided in mid air and plummeted to the ground.

The Pakistan Air Force Command must have drawn a lesson from the vigilance of our pilots and our anti-aircraft gunners which it is not likely to forget in a hurry.

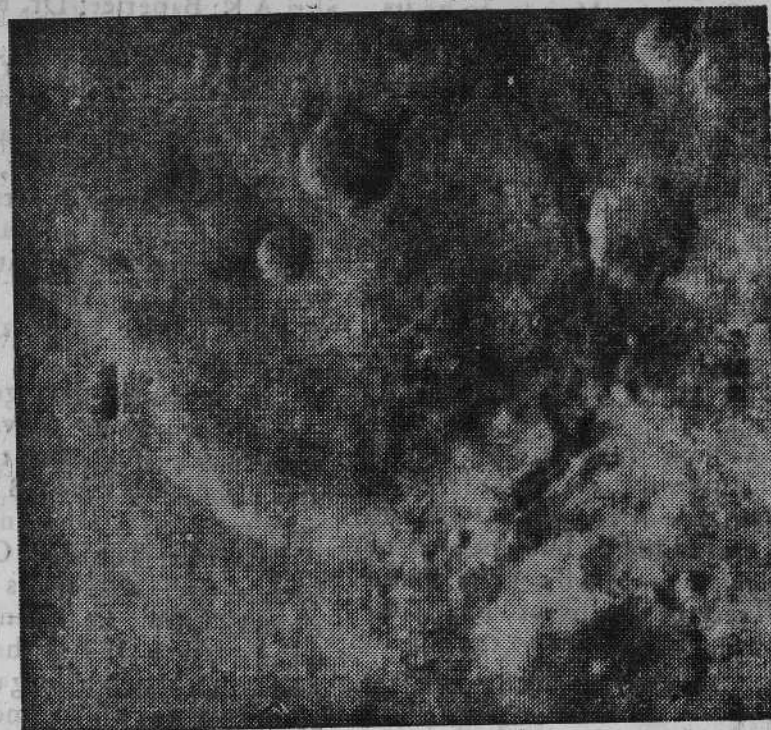

This is not to say that Pakistani pilots totally stopped trying to get at this airfield. They did come periodically, were always in a hurry, off-loaded their bombs at inconsequential points and bolted for safety.

Perhaps they could judge soon enough the temper, determination and the skill of our Gnat and Hunter pilots and came to the conclusion that their training and tactics were proving somewhat uncomfortable for the Pakistani's pilots and their Sabres and the Starfighters.

If the picture which people hold of our pilots and ground staff at an air base is one of people who are cringing in corners flying is their profession and they have mastered it. Fighting is their duty and they have studi-

'REMARKABLE' MARS VIEW—This photograph of the surface of Mars is one of 22 taken by the U.S. spacecraft Mariner 4 as it flew past the planet on July 14. Mariner project scientists at the Jet Propulsion Laboratory in California describe it as "surely one of the most remarkable scientific photographs of this age." It and others in the series show Martian craters ranging in diameter from five to 120 kilometers. The photos are expected to have profound effects on scientific views about the origin and evolution of planets in the solar system.

Our Fighters have also done a very gallant job in escorting the bombers during their daring daylight bombing missions, as in close support of the Army. The pilots here have an escapade to relate about their action over enemy territory. Even in face of danger they have not hesitated to carry out intrepid raids, often at the risk of personal safety. There are already some Vir Chakra holders here and the feeling is that more may be in the offing.

But the over-riding impression one gathers is that it has been a gentleman's war. In the mess in the evening, when pilots are prone to be rather loquacious, the inescapable feeling one gets is that our pilots have nothing against Pakistani pilots personally. India's fight has been for the cause of democracy and secularism. Everyone on this base believes in this cause. Young, intelligent man from every religion, every caste and every State are members of this select Air Force community who have the honour to defend our skies and secure our freedom.

But the pilots often stated that such Pakistan counterparts as had the misfortune of having host of other silent, efficient dedicated skilled technicians, who keep their sophisticated aircraft flying & fighting fit. If it were not for the skill and sense of duty of technical hands, it would not be possible to have such an effective fighting force in the air. The officer airmen relationship and mutual faith and respect that one notices at this forward air base, is what makes the Air Force a happy, united, fighting-fit family it is.

Government of India has prohibited the use of kerosene oil for any purpose other than cooking and illumination. This prohibition has been enforced by means of the Kerosene (Restriction on use) Order, 1965 issued under the Defence of India Rules. But the pilots often stated that such Pakistan counterparts as had the misfortune of having their aircraft shot down and having to bale out for personal safety should, not, in any way, be molested by the vigilant villagers. It is so moving to witness such noble sentiments.

The Government of India have been receiving reports adulteration of kerosene oils particularly with automotive fuels like high speed diesel oil. This practice, apart from causing high speed diesel oil, is against the interests of the community inasmuch as it affects adversely the supply of kerosene for essential uses.

- 79) While the structure of the central organization remains as it is, the functions differ. For example, members of local congregation go to the centrally sponsored programmes not as delegates and to listen to what they are told, but the leaders of the centre go to the congregation programmes at the latter's invitation to see and help the work of the congregation.
- 80) This reversal is absolutely essential, for in my own experience of twenty years of church life, the member of the congregation was never aware of anything that was happening at the centre and above them. For example, the ordinary member of my church including the lay leaders, knew nothing of the vital issue of the Lutheran Church joining the C.S.I. although there have been negotiations for over 10 years.
- 81) I am aware of many lacunae in this structure of parish and central organization. But my main idea in discussing the whole programme of evangelism within the terms of the life and mission of the local congregation is to suggest action in this direction rather than keep it in a permanent state of debate, discussion and consideration at national and international assemblies and conferences. In one word, what I have suggested in relation to the missionary task and the method of carrying it on, is through "an ecclesiastical syndicalism". A beginning can be made in one congregation as a pilot project in each church.
- 82) To conclude, let me say, the time has come to prepare a new dictionary of phrases that have been in use in the work of evangelism during the past two or three centuries. Words like missionary, mission compound, mission station, mission centre, preaching, evangelism, evangelist, pastor "ends of the earth", "regions beyond", laymen, missionary task, function of the church, function of the mission, secular society, secular services, all need a completely different interpretation, if they should mean anything to the modern society.
- 83) I am suggesting that the present hierarchical structure of the church and the mission should be physically turned topsy turvy. This needs vision, courage and above all repentance on the part of every individual associated with this great enterprise of God. We need to turn to God and unload our burdens of power, prestige, intransigence material advantages, etc., at the foot of the Cross and take the Cross ourselves and follow Him and beckon unto many others "to do likewise".

Lutheran World Federation
Secind All-Asia Lutheran Conference
Ranchi, India
October 8- 18, 1964.

KEYNOTE ADDRESS

Rev. Dr. Marsallan Bage

- 1) It is a great privilege for me to speak to you this evening. We have assembled here for the Second All Asia Lutheran Conference. It was in 1956, almost eight years ago that the first All-Asia Lutheran Conference met at Madras, also in India, but far to the south of this place. This time, most of us were anxiously looking forward to meeting for this conference in Indonesia, where we would have had the privilege of being the guests of the Batak Protestant Christian Church (H.K.B.P.), which is the biggest Lutheran Church in Asia. Unfortunately, due to various political situations namely, that the delegates of some countries could not have entered Indonesia, this conference is being held again in India for the second time. But, this time you are not in the South; you are in the North.
- 2) This place, Ranchi, is the summer capital of Bihar, one of the Federal States of this Country. This billy part, whose centre is Ranchi, is called Chotanagpur and this plateau was originally inhabited by the tribals. However, since a few years this has become a very important part of India. On account of its rich mineral resources it is rapidly changing into an industrial belt of India. Rourkela and Bhilai Steel Plants in the South-West, Jamshedpur and Durgapur in the East have already come into existence. Hatia Heavy Engineering Factory very near to Ranchi is under construction and has already started a little production. Bokaro steel plant is going to be built in the North in the very near future. Thus Chotanagpur is definitely going to be a highly industrialised belt, or the "Rhr of India". This is why hundreds of people from all parts of India are today migrating into these parts. There are rapid social and economic changes going on here.
- 3) Here you are the guests of the Gossner Evangelical Lutheran Church. This Church has been struggling for self-support since 1929, the year when she took over the administrative autonomy of the Church. The Church is trying to go along with the rapid changes taking place in this area. She has started Technical Training Centre at Fudi and one Agricultural Training Centre at Khutitoli. The old printing Press has been modernised by installing new upto-to-date printing machines. It will be of interest to you to know that those of you who have your accomodation in this Compound have been provided with quite new beds which have all been made in the Technical Training Centre, Fudi. You will be the first to test whether they are strong enough ! I have been informed that our Agricultural Training Centre at Khutitoli will be supplying us with eggs and some vegetables. If so, you will have the chance to taste and to find out whether they are good enough for an open market. This all means that the G.E.L.Church along with its newly begun institutions, is very glad to have you all here at Ranchi for this Conference. I, on behalf of the G.E.L.Church and on behalf of these institutions extend to you our hearty welcome and hope that you all will feel quite at home at this place.
- 4) It is in fact a matter of great joy that we, from so many countries have again been able meet. We are assembled here, delegates not only from the ten Lutheran Churches of India;
