

Athen 620 Athens, 15-7-80

V. Dorovinis

28, Xenias Str.

Dear Sir

I am writing to you on recommendation of Herrn prof. Walter Wrede, to ask you the following piece of information:

- as you have thoroughly made researches in Argolis and especially on the venician and the modern ("capodistrian") history of Nafplion and its region, I would be very obliged to you if you could provide me with any photographic document of the Capodistrian Barracks (Ετραπικές) in Argos, especially of the inner part of the building (αίθρι), on the moment you make your researches in Greece.

Against the fact I am preparing a study about the "capodistrian" buildings in Argolis (and, consequently, it would be very precious for me to have a copy of your book relative to Nafplion and Argos - it is unfindable here!!)

I ~~do~~ continue during three years, with an association in Agos, an obstinate struggle to save the barracks and some other buildings of "new-classical" style in Agos from the very ~~an~~ vivid appetite of some local construction companies and financial interests, that would be glad to demolish every historical building in the town, if the had any possibility for it.....

The "Capodistrias' barracks question" has become a national question - the whole press publishes frequently articles about it - and I believe that with my study I will be able to reinforce our position.

So, it would be very positive if you could help me with the documents I asked you above.

With my best feelings and my appreciation

Basil DOROVINIS
28, Xenias str. / Athens (620 A)
Greece.

Please, be kind to answer to be in English, French or.... Greek. I am very sorry not to read German.