

Handwritten text in a historical script, possibly Latin or German, on aged, stained, and damaged paper. The text is arranged in columns across the folded document. There are several large, irregular brown stains and two prominent circular holes near the top center. A red wax seal is visible on the left side, and a red wax seal with a black mark is on the right side. A large, stylized initial 'S' is visible in the center. The paper is heavily discolored and shows signs of significant wear and tear.
