

A diamond-shaped piece of aged, stained paper with a faint circular watermark in the center. The paper is light beige with significant brown staining and discoloration, particularly around the edges and in the center. The watermark is a circular emblem, possibly a coat of arms or a religious symbol, though the details are faded. The paper is set against a dark, textured background.

