

A circular, dark, textured object, possibly a fossil or a small, dark, circular object, mounted on a light-colored, textured surface. The object has a rough, irregular edge and a dark, mottled interior. It is attached to a light-colored, textured surface, possibly a piece of paper or a card, which is also visible in the upper right corner. The object is positioned in the center of the frame, with a dark background behind it.

